Villa Duchesne Class of 1983

It is with great love and pride that I present Candace Clark Friedman, Villa Duchesne Class of 1983, for the Très Bien award.

Candy is a busy wife, mother, sister and an executive at Revlon, yet she always generously answers the call to serve. She is constantly volunteering in her neighborhood, her son Whittaker's school, or in the community. She exemplifies the spirit of Madeleine Sophie with a faith that impels to action. Her years at Villa were not just a past that prepared her for the world; rather they became a part of her present self that propels her to serve others and her community with a smile on her face.

Candy, a recognized leader, has willingly served as the President of the 700-member Junior League of Baltimore. She also served as a chairman of the Wise Penny Thrift Shop, serving the needy in inner city Baltimore. Candy was a room mom not only in Baltimore but also in her new town of Bentonville, Arkansas. She is a Sunday school teacher and the neighborhood social director. She is always bringing someone a meal, a card, a smile or an offer to help. She gives not just from her purse but also her heart.

Candy is a true child of the Sacred Heart, and I am honored to be not only her sister but her best friend.
